

Views of DNA's and other stakeholders

- Secretariat has been consulting in a number of events with a broad range of stakeholders, practitioners workshop, African Carbon Forum (including side events), Regional African DNA forum
- General response is that the framework is a big step in the right direction and that only practice in developing standardized baselines will allow for full feedback for future revisions
- African DNAs viewed the framework as a key means to improve access to the mechanism in underrepresented countries and regions:
 - The need for assistance through top-down development of baselines for priority areas and resource assistance in data gathering was highlighted
